THE SUFFERING OF PERPETUA AND FELICITAS

PREFACE
If there are ancient examples of faith, which are even testifying to God’s grace and are producing the edification of a human, and, on-that-account, are having been collected in letters so that the reading of them may be representations of past affairs, and so that God might be being honored and a human might be greatly-strengthened, why might new documents not also be collected, which will be equally convenient for both purposes? 2 Because, accordingly, these new illustrations will sometime in the future also be ancient and necessary for posterior generations—even if in their present time (due to the veneration of antiquity having been taken-up) their authority is more-minor.

3 Instead, they may see to this—those who might be judging the one power of the one spirit according to the lifetimes of times—when the more-recent things (whichever ones are later than the last) will be reputed greater, in-accordance-with the exuberance of grace which has been decreed into the utmost periods of the age. 4 For:

In the last days, says the Lord, I will pour out my spirit on all flesh; and their sons and daughters will prophesy. And I will pour out my spirit on my servants and handmaidens; and young-men will see visions, and old-men will dream dreams.

( Joel 2:28-29 )

5 And, accordingly, we (exactly-as we are recognizing and honoring prophecies, in-this-same-manner, are also recognizing new visions as equally promised return to us), 6 are recognizing the rest of the powers of the holy spirit to be necessary for the instrumentation of the assembly (to which the same spirit was also sent, administering all gifts in all persons as the Lord proportionately distributed to each person), 7 And we are collecting these, and we are celebrating them by recital to the glory of God, so that no one who is either full of imbecility or despairing of faith might be estimating that the divine grace has conversed only with the ancients (whether in the dignity of testifiers, or whether in the joy of revelations), 8 especially when God might always be working the things which he has promised-in-return: in a testimony to those who are not believing, in a benefit to those who are believing.

9 And, accordingly, brothers and little-sons, what we have heard and have come-in-contact-with, we are also announcing to you*, so that you* also, who attended in person, might be remembering the glory of the Lord; 10 and so that you*, who are now recognizing him through hearing, might be having a communication with the holy testifiers, and, through them, with our Lord Jesus the Anointed-One, to whom be splendor and honor into the ages of the ages. May it be.

CHAPTER 1

1:2:1 A number of adolescent oral-students were having been apprehended: Revocatus and his fellow-slave Felicitas, Saturninus and Secundulus. 2 And here them was also Vibia Perpetua: an honorable daughter, having been liberally instituted, having been matronly married, having a father and a mother and two brothers (the one of which was an oral-student like herself). And she was having an infant son at the breast. But she herself was about twenty two years old.

3 Now from here on, the entire account of her testimony here she herself has narrated (having been conscripted by her own-hand) and she has left-behind her own sentiments. 4:3:1 She remarks:

At the time when we would have still been being with the prosecutors,1 and my father, out of affection for me, was persevering to be overturning me by his words and to be throwing me down from the faith, I said, “Father, do you see this case, for instance, lying here, or waterpot or whatever it may be?”

And he said, “I see it.”

5:1 And I said to him, “It is it able to be being called by another name than what it is.

And he declared*, “No.”

Therefore, in-this-same-way, I also am not able to be being said to be anything other than what I am, a Christian.”

6:2 Then father, having been moved by this word, threw himself at me as though11 he would be plucking my eyes out. Instead, he only vexed me. And he had withdrawn from me, having been vanquished along with his arguments of the Slanderer.

7:3 Then for a few days, I gave thanks to the Lord that I had become-free from my father, and I was refreshed by his absence. 8:5 In the space of these few days, I was13 immersed; and the spirit dictated to me, that from the time of the water, I was to seek for nothing else apart for bodily endurance.

9 A few days after this, we were being retaken into the prison; and I was terror-stricken-out of my mind, because I had never before experienced such darkness. 10 O hopeless day! Because of the crowds, the heat was harsh! And there was the rough-handling of the soldiers! Last of all, I was being distressed there to worry20 for my infant.

10:7 Then Tertius and Pomponius (ministers having been блест) who were ministering to us, offered22 a bribe to the soldiers, so that, after we were sent-out into a better place of the prison, we might be refreshing ourselves for a few hours.

8 Then, while they were going-out from the prison, each one, after they were turned, were themselves having-leisure.

11 I was giving-milk to my infant, who was already having been enfeebled with hunger. Worried14 about him, I was uttering-to my mother and I was comforting my brother. I was committing15 my son to them. For that-reason, I was melting inside, because I had seen them being melted inside on my account. 26

12:9 Such are the worries which I had suffered for many days. And I obtained permission, so that my infant might be remaining in the prison with me. And straightaway, I gained-strength. And I am now having been relieved from my labor and worry20 of my infant, and my prison is suddenly having been made a praetorium, so that I would have been preferring to be there rather than anywhere else.

13:4:1 Then my brother said to me, “Lady, sister, you are already in a position of great dignity—so much, that you may be requesting for a vision, and it may be being shown to you whether you are to undergo a suffering or whether to be given a free passage home.”

14:2 And I (who was knowing that I was able to be talking with the Lord (whose-so-many benefits I had experienced)) confidently promised him in return, saying, “Tomorrow, I will announce-an-answer to you.”

15 And I made-a-request, and this was17 shown to me:

(3) I saw a bronze ladder of miraculous height, reaching up to the heaven. And it was narrow, through which only a single person would be being able to be ascending at a time. And in the sides of the ladder, every kind of sharp-iron-implements were affixed. There were swords, lances, hooks, sabers, and javelins; so that if someone would have being ascended negligently or not stretching from above he would be being mangled and his flesh would be being inerred to the sharp-iron-implements.

16:4 And below the ladder itself, there was a dragon of miraculous magnitude, which was laying-down, which was lying in ambush for those who are ascending, and terrifying them away, so that they might not be ascending.

17:5 However Saturus ascended first (who afterward, had, of his own accord, delivered himself up for our sakes (who himself had edited us)), and at-the-time when we were being led-to43 the court, had not been present).
18(5) And he came to the top of the ladder. And he himself turned-around, and he said to me, “Perpetua, I am holding-up for you. Instead, be seeing that that dragon might not be biting you.”

19 And I said, “He will not harm me, in the name of Jesus the Anointed-One.”

20(7) And the dragon, slowly, as-if-fearing me, ejected its head from underneath the ladder itself. And as-if it was the first step I would be treading, I trod on his head and I ascended.

21(8) And I saw an immense space of an orchard. And in the middle of it, a gray-haired human was sitting, dressed in shepherd’s garb. He was grand, and was milking sheep. And standing around him were many thousands clothed-in-white.

22(9) And he rose his head, and he looked-at me, and he said to me, “It is good you have come, my child.” And he clamored to me, and he gave to me, as it were,  a small-mouthful of the cheese which he had milked. And I accepted it with my cupped hands and I ate it. And the whole group of those who were standing-around, said, “May it be!”

23(10) And I was awakened to the sound of their voice, still completely-eating some unknown sweet thing. And straightaway, I brought-back a response to my brother. And we gained-intelligence that we were going to suffer. And we already began to be having no hope in this age.

1:8(1) A few days later, a rumor ran about, that we would be being heard in court. And my father arrived from the civil-community, having been consumed with tediousness. And he ascended to me, so that he might be throwing me down from the height of scorn, saying: 2 My daughter, be having-mercy-on my gray-hair. Be having-mercy-on your father—if I am worthy to be being called ‘father’ from you; if, with these hands, I have carried you forward to this flower of age; if I set you before all your brothers: May you not give me over to the scorn of humans. 3 Be looking-at your brothers. Be looking-at your mother and your mother’s-sister. Be looking-at your son, who will not be able to be living after you have died. 4 Be laying-aside your soul. You will exterminate the whole of us. For not-one of us will be able to utter freely again if you would be made-to-suffer anything.

5 My father was saying this, as-if for his piety, kissing my hands and tossing himself at my feet. And while shedding-tears, he was already no longer naming me ‘daughter’, but instead ‘lady’. 6 And I was feeling-pain over the gray-hairs of my father, because he alone from all my race, would not be rejoicing from my suffering.

7 And I was comforting him, saying, “This will happen on that scaffold, in-the-way God would want. For you will know, that we have not been constituted in our own power, but instead in God’s.” And he receded from me, having been grieved.

8:6(1) On another day, when we would have been eating-breakfast, we were suddenly seized, so that we might be being heard in court. And we came to the forum. Straightaway a rumor ran throughout the parts in-the-vicinity of the forum, and an immense people had formed. We ascended on the scaffold. After the rest of them were interrogated, they had confessed the faith.

10 It also came to me. And my father suddenly appeared with my son. And he dragged me forth from the step, saying, “Be supplicating the gods. Be having-mercy-on your infant.”

11:3 And Hilarianus the procurator (who had then accepted the right of the sword after the proconsul Minicius Timianus died) remarked, “Be sparing your father’s gray-hairs. Be sparing your infant boy. Be making the sacred-offering for the health of the emperors.”

13:5 And when father would have been standing trying to throw me down from the faith, he was directed from Hilarianus to be thrown-forward, and he was beaten with a stick. And I felt-pain for my father’s fall, as-if I would have been having been beaten myself. In-this-manner, I felt-pain for his miserable old-age.

14:6 Then Hilarianus pronounced a sentence on the whole of us, and he was condemning us to the beasts. And we descended to the prison in chains. And then, because my infant had became-acustomed to be accepting my breasts from me and to be remaining with me in the prison, I straightaway sent the minister Pomponius to my father, requesting for my infant. Instead, father did not wish to be giving him to me. And in-whatever-way God wanted, that infant did not-even desire my breasts anymore, nor-even did my breasts make any inflammation. I was not being distressed by worry for my infant and by pain in my breasts.

17:7 A few days later, while the whole of us were praying, suddenly, in-the-middle of the prayer, a voice made-its-way to me, and it named Dinocrates. And I became-stupefied, because that name would never have had come to me in my mind until then. And I felt-pain, after I was made-to-commemorate his fall. And straightaway, I recognized that I was worthy, and that I was to be being obligated to be begging for him. And I began to be making much prayer for him, and to be groaning to the Lord.

19:9 Immediately on that very night, this was shown to me:

20(4) I saw Dinocrates going-out from a dark place, and where there were also several places. He was strongly heating and thirsting. He had filthy ornamentation and pale color. And the wound, which he had when he would have been made-dead, was still in his face. This Dinocrates had been my fleshly brother, who, at the age of seven years, went-to his end amidst a heroic end. And he had when he would have been made-dead, was standing a distance from it. Then, because he might be throwing me down to me, I felt-pain, because though that pool was having water, however, even due to the height of the rim, he would not be able to drink from it.

25:9 And I was awakened. And I recognized that my brother was laboring. Instead, I was having-faith that it was possible for me to bring-profit to his labor. And I was praying for him all the days until we were transferred into the camp prison. For we will fight with the beasts at the camp game—then on the birthday of Caesar Geta. And I made a prayer for that brother day and night, groaning and shedding-tears, so that he might be being given to me.

28:8(1) The day on which we remained in the stocks, this was shown to me:

29 I saw that same place, which I had formerly seen. And Dinocrates, with a clean body, having been well vested, was being refreshed. And where the wound was, I now saw a scar. And that pool which I had formerly seen, its rim was having been lowered up to the boy’s navel. And he was drawing water from it without cessation. And above its rim was a golden saucer filled with water. And Dinocrates went to it and he began to be drinking from it. This saucer was not failing. And after he was satisfied, he went from the water to be playing, rejoicing in the manner of infants.
CHAPTER 3

10:17 Next, a few days later, a military adjutant named Pudens (who was having been put-in-charge of the prison) began to be magnifying us, gaining-intelligence that there is some great virtue within us. He was admitting many people to visit us, so that even we and those individuals were being able to refresh one-other-in-turn.

2 However, as the day of the game neared, my father, consumed with tediousness, entered to visit me. And he began to be pelting the hairs out of his beard and to be throwing them on the ground, and to be prostrating himself on his face, and to be reproaching his years, and to be saying such words as would be moving the whole creation. 3 I was feeling-pain for his unhappy old-age.

4(18:1) On-the-day-before the one which we would be fighting with the beasts, I saw this in a supernatural-vision:

The minister Pomponius began to come to the door of the prison, and to be knocking vehemently. 5(2) And I went-out to him, and I opened up for him. He was having been vested in a belltless white tunic, and was having multilaced sandals.

6 And he said to me, “Perpetua, we are expecting you. Come.”

And he grasped my hand, and we began to be going through rough and winding places. 7(4) Scarcely, at last, panting-for-breath, we came to the amphitheater. And he led me into the middle of the arena.

And he said to me, “Do not be wishing to be shuddering in fear. I am here with you, and I am laboring-together with you.” And he went-away.

8 And I looked-at an unnatural crowd of people who thundered. And, because I was knowing that I had been condemned to the beasts, I was being made-to-marvel that beasts were not being sent to me. 9(6) And a certain Egyptian, loathsome in his looks, who will fight with me, came out against me, along with his aids. 10 Some decent adolescents also came to me, to be my aids and favorers.

11(7) And I was exposed, and I was made masculine. And my favorers began to be rubbing me down with oil in-whatever-way is customary in a contest. 12 And I saw the Egyptian on that other side rolling in some fine-dust. 13 And there came-out, a certain man of miraculous magnitude, so that he was exceeding further than the top of the amphitheater. 14 He was wearing-belltless-clothes, having a purple-garment with two stripes running down through the middle of the breast, and multi-formed sandals having been made out of gold and silver. 15 And he was bearing a stick as-if he were a gladiator-trainer, and a green branch on which were golden apples.

16(9) And he begged for silence, and he said, “This Egyptian, if he might be-victorious-over this woman, will cut that woman down with a sword. And if this woman might be-victorious-over this Egyptian, she will accept this branch.” And he receded.

17(10) And we went to one-another, and we began to send our fists at one-another. That man was wanting to be apprehending my feet, however, I was striking him in the face with my heels. 18(11) And I was taken-up into the air, and I began to be to be striking him in this-manner as-if I were not treading earth.

19 But as-soon-as I saw that some delay was being made, 20 I joined my hands together, so that I entwined the fingers of one hand with the fingers of the other; and I apprehended that man’s head. And he fell on his face and I trod on that man’s head.

20(21) And the people began to be clamoring, and my aids psalmed. And I went to the gladiator-trainer, and I accepted the branch. 21(13) And he kissed me and he said to me, “Peace be with you, my daughter!”

And I began to be going with glory to the Sanavivarian Gate (which means, Gate of Health-and-Life).

22(14) And I was awakened. And I gained-intelligence that my fight was not to be against beasts, but instead against the Slanderer. Instead, I was knowing that victory was to be mine. 23(18) This is what I did up into the day-before the game. However, about the acts of the game itself, if there is someone who might want to, may he be writing them.

CHAPTER 4

11:1 Instead, even Saturas, who has been blest, gave-out this-here vision of his, which he himself conscripted. He says:

2 We were having suffered, and we went-out of the flesh, and we began to be being borne into the east by four heavenly-messengers, whose hands were not touching us. 3 However, we were not going lying-on-our-backs, looking upward, but instead as-if we were ascending a gentle slope. 4 And after we were first liberated from the world below, we saw an immense light.

And I said to Perpetua (for she was here at my side), “This is what the Lord was promising to us. We have entirely-received the promise.”

5 And while we were being carried by the four heavenly-messengers themselves, a grand open space was having been made to us, which was like a park, having rose trees and every kind of flower.

6 The height of the trees was similar in measure to the cypress, whose leaves were falling without cessation. 7 However, there in the park were four other heavenly-messengers, brighter than the rest of them. As-soon-as they saw us, they gave honor to us; and they said to the rest of the heavenly-messengers with admiration, “Behold, they are here! Behold, they are here!”

8 And those four heavenly-messengers who were carrying us, were shuddering-out of their minds, set us down. And by-means of our feet, we went-across to a stadium strewn-with-violets.

9 There we came-upon Jocundus and Saturninus and Artaxius, who all were blazed alive in the same persecution. And we also found Quintus, who himself also being a testifier, had gone-out of the body in the prison. And we were seeking from those men, where the others might be.

10 And the rest of the heavenly-messengers said to us, “Be coming first, be entering, and be greeting the Lord.”

11(11:1) And we came near to a place, a place of whose limits were having been built in such-a-way as-if they were made of light. 12 And four heavenly-messengers were standing before the door of that place, who vested those who were going-in with white gowns. 13(2) And we went-in, and we heard the united voice saying without cessation, “Holy! Holy! Holy!”

14(3) And we saw, sitting in the same place, someone like a gray-haired human, having snowy hair-on-his-head, and with a young countenance, of whose feet we did not see. 15 And on his right and on his left were four elders, 16 and behind them were standing several of the rest of the elders.

16(5) And while we were entering, we stood with admiration before the throne. And the four heavenly-messengers lifted us up from-below. And we kissed that man, and he stroked our face with his hand.

17(6) And the rest of the elders said to us, “May we be standing.” And we stood, and we made peace.

And the elders said to us, “Be going and be playing.”

18(7) And I said to Perpetua, “You have what you want.”
And she said to me, “Thanks to God, that in-whatever-way I was cheerful in the flesh, I might now be being even more-cheerful here.”

19.13.1 And we went out. And before the doors, we saw the overseer Optatus to the right, and the elder and teacher Aspasius to the left, both having been separated and grieved. 20.2 And they cast themselves at our feet, and they said, “Be putting-together an agreement between us, because you* went-forth and you* left us in this state.”

21.3 And we said to those men, “Are you not our papa? And you our elder? So how is it that you* would be casting yourselves at* our feet?”

And we were moved, and we embraced those men. 22. And Perpetua began to be uttering to those men in Greek. And we segregated them into a park under a rose tree.

23.5 And while we were uttering with them, the heavenly-messengers said to those men, “Be letting those individuals be, so that they might be refreshing themselves. 24 And if you* have any dissensions between you*, be forgiving to yourselves, one-to-another.”

25.6 And they totally-disturbed them. And they said to Optatus, “Be correcting your commonalty, because they are convening to you as if they are going-back from a circus and contending about its factions.”

26.7 And in-this-manner, it seemed to us-as if they might be wanting to be closing the gates. 27.8 And in that place, we began to be recognizing many brothers, but instead even testifiers. The whole of us were being fed by an indescribable odor, which was satisfying us. 9

Then I was awakened, rejoicing.

CHAPTER 5

1.14.1 These were the remarkable visions of the most-blessed testifiers themselves, Saturus and Perpetua, which they themselves conscripted. 2. Truly, God called Secundulus to exit from themselves, Saturus and Perpetua, which they themselves conscripted.

CHAPTER 6

1.18.1 The day of their victory dawned, and they proceeded from the prison into the amphitheater, cheerful, as-if in the heaven, with a decent countenance. If, by chance, they were shuddering, it was with joy, not by fear. 2. Perpetua was made-to-follow along, with a lucid countenance and a placid gait as a matron of the Anointed-One, as a delightful one of God, as a wife of the Anointed-One, throwing-down everyone’s stare by the vigor of her eyes. 3. Felicitas was doing likewise, rejoicing that she had delivered safely, 4 so that she might be fighting against the beasts, going from blood to blood, from a midterm to a net-fighter, to have a washing after her delivery in a second immersion.

And when they were led into the gate and were driven-together, they dressed them in clothing: indeed the men, in that of the Saturnians, yet truly, the females in that of those who have been made-sacred to Ceres. But that generous Perpetua fought-back by her steadfastness up-to the end. 5 For she was saying, “For this-reason, we came to this on-our-own-accord, that our freedom might not be violated.” 6 For that-reason, we yielded to our soul, that we might not be doing anything such-as-this. This is our pact with you*.”

Even injustice came-to-know justice. The tribune conceded. They would be being led-in simply, in-whatever-way they were currently dressed. 7 Perpetua was psalming, she already treading the head of the Egyptian. Revocatus, and Saturninus, and Saturus were threatening the spectating people. 8 From here-on, as they came-to a spot under the stare of Hilariusian, they began to be saying things to Hilariusian by gesture and nod. “You have condemned us,” they were saying, “however God will condemn you.”

9 At this the people, having become-exasperated, requested for them to be being vexed with whips through a line of hunters. And they, by-all-means, gave-
10. (19.1) Instead, the one who had said, “Be begging and you* will receive,” (Matthew 7:8/Luke 11:10) had given to those who were begging the exit which each of them had desired.

11.(2) For if at anytime they were holding-a-discourse between themselves of their wish about their testimony of the faith, indeed, Saturus was professing, that he was wanting* to be being thrown-toward all the beasts, so that, you-may-know, he might be carrying a more-glorious crown. 12.(s) So at the outset of the spectacle, after he himself and Revocatus experienced a leopard, furthermore, while they were above the pulpit, they were* vexed from a bear.

13.(4) However, Saturus was abhorring nothing greater than a bear. Instead, he was presuming to be being made-complete by one bite of a leopard. 14.(s) So when he would have been being bestowed to a wild-bear, rather the hunter, who would have been fastening* that man to the wild-bear, was gored by the same beast. He went-to his death some days after the show was over. Saturus was* merely dragged along. 15.(6) And when he was strung on the bridge from below to await the bear, the bear did not-want to be going-forth from its cave. So Saturus was recalled a second-time unhurt.

16.(20.1) For the girls, however, the Slanderer prepared the most-ferocious cow on-that-account (something more-than the normal practice which is readied), having emulated their female sex with that of the beast. 17.(3) So having been utterly-striped naked and having been dressed-in only nets, they were led-forward. 18 The people became-horrified, regarding that the one was a delicate girl, the other a woman fresh from delivery, with her breasts still dripping. So they were recalled and they were dressed-in unbelted clothes.

19.(3) Perpetua was* tossed first, and she altogether-fell on her loins. 20.(4) And as-soon-as she sat up, she pulled-down her tunic, which was rent from the side, for a cover for her thighs—rather more mindful of seemliness than of pain. 21.(5) From here, she sought for a needle, and she thoroughly-stroked the unclasped hair-of-her-head. 22 For it was not decent for a testifier to be suffering with the hair-of-her-head having been disheveled, lest she might be seen to be beating-her-breasts-in-lamentation in her hour of glory.

23.(6) So she arose. And when she would have seen Felicitas who was crushed, she went-to her; and she offered her hand, and she raised that woman to her feet. 24 And both of them stood side-by-side. And after the hardness of the people was completely-vanquished, they were recalled into the Sananavian Gate (which means, Gate of Health-and-Life).

25.(8) There Perpetua was welcomed by a certain Rusticus (who was then an oral-student) who was adhering to her. 26 And she, having been aroused as-if from a kind of sleep (so-far had she been in spirit and in ecstasy), began to be looking-around. 27 And, with all of them becoming-stupefied, she declared, remarking: “When are we being led-forward to that cow? I do not-know how long we have to wait.”

28.(9) And when she would have heard that it* had already come-forth, she did not at-first believe it until she recognized certain marks of vexation in her body and her clothing. 29.(10) From-there, after she fetched her brother and those oral-students, she uttered to them, saying, “All of you*, be standing in the faith, and, be loving all-in-turn. And may you* not be being made-tumble-by-means-of our sufferings.”

30.(21.1) Likewise, in another gate, Saturus was exhorting the soldier Padên, saying, “In conclusion,” it is certainly-exactly-as I presumed and predicted,” he remarked. “Up to now, not-one beast has sensed me. 31 And now, so that you might be believing me out of your total heart: Behold, I am going in there and I am being consumed from one bite of a leopard.”

32.(9) And straightaway, in the finale of the spectacle, after a leopard was thrown-toward him, Saturus, from one bite, was* having-so-much blood spilled, 33 that, while he was returning,20 that people repeatedly-clamored an attestation of his second immersion, “A saving bath!* A saving bath!”34.35 Plainly saved, by-all-means, was the one who had been washed by this mode.

35.(4) Then he remarked to the soldier Padên, “Be being-strengthened. And remember the faith and me. And may these things not be completely-disturbing you, but instead may they be confirming you.”

36.(9) Simultaneously, he begged for the loop1岚 from Padëns’ finger. And after he merged it into his own wound, he gave it back to him for an inheritance, relinquishing it to that man for a pledge and memorial of his bloodshed.

36.(10) From-there, he, already soulless, was being spread-before everyone along with the rest at the accustomed place to have his throat-cut. 31.(7) And when the people were requesting those individuals to be brought out into the middle, so that, while the sword was penetrating into their corpse, their-own eyes might be joined to them as accomplices of the homicide. 33 So the testifiers arose of-their-own-accord, and they transferred themselves to the spot where the people were wanting them to go. 34 Before that moment, they kissed one-another, so that they might be consummating their testimony through a solemnity of peace.

35.(8) Indeed, the others, immovable, received the iron along with silence—much more greatly Saturus, who had also been the first to climb up the ladder; he first gave-back his spirit. For he was also holding-up2岚 for Perpetua.

36.(9) However, Perpetua, so that she might be tasting some pain, howled-forth after she was completely-punctured between bones. And while the right-hand of the novice gladiator was straying3岚 from its target, she herself transversed it into her-own throat. 37.(10) Possibly, so great岚 a female, who was being feared by the unclean spirit, may not have been able to be being cut-down in-any-other-way unless she herself might have had willed it.

38.(11) O, strongest and most-blessed testifiers! O truly called and chosen in the glory of our Lord Jesus the Anointed-One! 39.(12) And anyone who magnifies, and honors, and adores his glory, are, by-all-means, being-indebted to be also reading these examples, which are not-more-minor than the old ones, in edification of the assembly. 40.(13) So that these new powers might too be testifying to one and the same holy spirit which is always operating, even now, 41.(14) and to God the Father Almighty, and to his Son Jesus the Anointed-One our Lord, to whom belong splendor and immeasurable power even to the ages of the ages. May it be.
